Berkeley Homes builds high-quality residential buildings at attractive locations in London and in the south-east of England. Established in 1976, this division of the Berkeley Group has moved into its new headquarters, which were completed in 2010. The working areas are extensively in the form of an open space design while numerous conference rooms with different furnishings ensure the necessary peace and quiet during meetings.

Draughtsman's tables with netwin counter chairs (above right) for planners. The activation cabinet system is used for storage.

The workstations have been furnished with temptation tables as well as swivel chairs and cantilever chairs of the netwin series. In the conference rooms, high end conference tables with crossline visitor chairs were incorporated.
